Embracing Equity to Transform Digital Natives Into Digital Learners
Tuesday, October 26 • 5 p.m. ET

Join us to talk about how administrators and educators can embrace equity in schools, including actionable steps you can take with district staff, faculty and students to employ engaging technology-enhanced learning environments for all students! You'll explore technology integration, helping teachers with entry points into integrating technology into their lessons, while seeking the right-fit technology for teachers and their students. The goal is to transform all digital natives into digital learners with access, resources and well-designed lessons aligned to curriculum standards.

Can't make the Twitter Chat tomorrow? November's lineup to be announced later this week!
