This school board continues to just show how corrupt most of you truly are, to hire a person from Pfizer just shows your true colors. You now have another board member with own agenda to push their vaccines, do you think the American people are blind and stupid you are wrong. You are totally corrupt as a school board, just remember we the people vote you in and you will pay for your actions.

Pfizer exec named to Williamson County School Board, upsetting some parents

The Williamson County Commission voted to appoint Josh Brown to fill a vacancy on the Williamson County School Board - but not without some controversy.

Brown is a graduate of Williamson County Schools and has three children who attend school in the district. But Brown's profession is the issue that has several parents unhappy about his appointment. He is a National Vice President for the pharmaceutical company Pfizer.

"You care not about the division you are causing in this county," parent
