Subject: teachers - the 6' rule

WARNING: EXTERNAL EMAIL - THIS EMAIL DID NOT ORIGINATE FROM WCS

Nancy -
Just received the weekly note from my son [REDACTED] math teacher ([REDACTED] grade @ Woodland). She's out until 9/7; was out Thursday/Friday this past week. COVID...yeah, probably so. Not that it matters, but i'll add that she's an exemplary teacher who [REDACTED] adores.

Asked [REDACTED] if she wore a mask..."in the hallway" he said. In the classroom, it was a chin diaper. With 27+ new cases at WMS, there shouldn't be any surprise that an unmasked teacher was exposed.

I'm certain you've seen this study:
<https://www.businessinsider.com/cdc-unvaccinated-teacher-spread-covid-to-50-of-classroom-2021-8>

Now I don't know if [REDACTED] teacher was vaccinated or not; but, I know the board agreed to this 6' from the student, no mask required rule, but it's misguided.

Let's add removal of this 6' rule to the next round of revotes on mitigation strategies. It was good in theory..in practice, it's putting our teachers and students at risk.

Mike
